Three Remarkable FREE Films on YouTube
As I've mentioned before, I feel that YouTube can be such a huge blessing for sharing information and stories...and recently I watched a couple of remarkable documentaries on YouTube that I wanted to recommend here...plus to re-mention another perennial favourite free film online that I've mentioned many times before...let's dive in:

*Home - wow, beautiful aerial photography in this 1.5 hour documentary offering very interesting perspectives on how humans have impacted this planet and what we might choose to do about the current situation...the information about how the advent of agriculture affected our presence here particularly struck me, with some very impactful visuals...powerful stuff... see http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jqxENMKaeCU.

*What In The World Are They Spraying? - I've been hearing about this documentary on chemtrails for years now from various friends, some of whom were even involved behind the scenes of this project - well, I just finally watched the film in the last couple of weeks and am blown away by the evidence presented in regards to chemtrail/geoengineering operations currently in process. If you care at all about your health, you might want to take a look at this and have a jaw-support in place while watching this 1.5 hour revealing documentary... ;) See http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jf0khstYDLA.

*The Green Beautiful - as I said, I've mentioned this fabulous French film many times before - yet I do suspect there are some of you who still haven't dived into its wry take on modern human life, so I shall mention it again... ;) This film contains messages very similar to those shared in the Anastasia books and I LOVE it :) You can watch the whole film for free on YouTube in 9 parts, starting HERE - it is in French with very fast English subtitles - get ready ;) Part one is at: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=C5CmMm_SRpM.

Happy Viewing :)
