
Nut Mylk bag isn't strong enough.

Hey folks,

I started raw juice feasting recently, and was using a nut mylk bag someone gave me. New. On the third day of using it, the contents started squirting out little holes in the fabric ... only three days and I've managed to cause the fabric to begin to fail under pressure.

So, as of today I'm using a new pair of panty hose, doubled over and tied on one end. Works well, but is difficult to really get clean.

What do you all use? Have you had a failure of the fabric before, where the contents suddenly squirt out across the counter (if you're lucky), or across your shirt? If you haven't had any issues, where did you get your bag from?

Thanks!!
